Brigham Young, although he had only eleven days of formal schooling himself, was a staunch advocate of education. "Education," he said, "is the power to think clearly, the power to act well in the world's work, and the power to appreciate life."

Karl Gottfried Maeser, principal of Brigham Young Academy in 1876, was described by the Deseret News as a "gentleman of liberal culture and education." He received $1,200 as an annual salary and found only 29 students enrolled at the beginning of his term of office. When the Academy's one building burned down in 1884, most classes were held in the ZCMI warehouse, and some were housed in a bank, a drugstore, a general store, a meetinghouse, and the Provo Tabernacle until a new building was completed eight years later.

Dallin Harris Oaks, president of Brigham Young University in 1976, has 25,000 students under his supervision on a 529-acre campus with 387 academic, residence, and service buildings. With 200 acres of lawn and twenty-two miles of sidewalks, just the geography of the University today would amaze those who struggled for its survival during its humble beginnings.

In 1930 the upper campus included only the Maeser Building; the Grant Library; the Mechanic Arts Building, to which two stories were added in 1935 to complete the Brimhall Building; and the president's home, remodeled in 1928.

By 1975 farms and orchards had given way to buildings and parking lots, enough for the higher education of 25,000 students in twelve colleges, three schools, and religious instruction.

History of Brigham Young University

On October 16, 1875, Brigham Young deeded 2.1 acres of land at Third West and Center Street in Provo, Utah, to Abraham O. Smoot and six other Trustees for the establishment of Brigham Young Academy. President Young specified in his Deed of Trust that "all pupils shall be instructed in reading, penmanship, orthography, grammar, geography, and mathematics, together with such other branches as are usually taught in an academy of learning; and the Old and New Testaments, the Book of Mormon, and the Book of Doctrine and Covenants shall be read and their doctrines inculcated in the Academy." Four days later he wrote his son Alfaes, who was studying at the University of Michigan, that he hoped the Academy would be a place "at which the children of the Latter-day Saints can receive a good education." As the institution has grown during the past one hundred and one years from an obscure elementary school with twenty-nine students to a prominent American university with a full-time student body of over 25,000, trustees, administrators, teachers, and students have worked together to keep Brigham Young's trust by making the school which bears his name an academic center in a distinctly spiritual setting.

Principal Warren N. Dusenberry inaugurated the first experimental term of Brigham Young Academy on January 3, 1876. Because of his duties as probate judge, attorney, and Provo businessman, Dusenberry remained at the helm of the school for only four months. In April President Brigham Young called Karl G. Maeser, a talented German schoolmaster, into his office and asked him to become the principal of Brigham Young Academy. Maeser accepted the calling, together with Brigham Young's charge to teach even the multiplication tables with the Spirit of God. Though Maeser began the second experimental term on April 24, 1876, with only twenty-nine elementary school students, enrollment reached fifty-nine by the end of August. None of the students progressed beyond the fourth grade that first year, but Maeser organized some of the more talented pupils, including future United States Senators George Sutherland, William King, and Reed Smoot, into a normal (teacher training) class. With the help of Abraham O. Smoot (mayor of Provo, president of Utah Stake, and president of the Brigham Young Academy Board of Trustees) and other local leaders, the school grew steadily.

On January 27, 1884, the Lewis Building, home of the Academy, burned to the ground, and the school entered a decade of crisis. While the Academy moved its facilities to the ZCMI warehouse at Fifth South and what is now University Avenue, the Board of Trustees purchased the block at Fifth North and University Avenue which is now known as the lower campus. By winter of 1884, the foundation of the Academy Building was in place on that site, but financial problems forced the school to postpone completion of the building until 1891. Depending as it did on tuition and private contributions for support, the Academy almost collapsed during the financial hard times of the late 1880s, but Abraham O. Smoot and other members of the Board of Trustees personally subsidized the operation of the Academy. Even with financial difficulties, Principal Maeser recruited a competent faculty, and Brigham Young Academy was soon known as the foremost teacher training institution in the territory.

On January 4, 1892, the Academy Building was dedicated, and Principal Maeser retired from his position at the Academy to devote full time to his calling as superintendent of LDS Church schools. His replacement, Benjamin Cluff, Jr., was a graduate of the Academy who later obtained his bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan. Principal Cluff energetically dedicated himself to the challenge of expanding the work of the school. In 1893 George H. Brimhall graduated from the Academy with a Bachelor of Pedagogy degree, one of the first collegiate degrees awarded at BYU. That same year Brimhall was appointed first president of the newly-organized Alumni Association. In 1895 the title of the head of the school was changed from principal to president. The Academy continued its financial struggles, and many feared the school was doomed when President Abraham O. Smoot died in 1895, but in 1896 the LDS Church assumed the school's debts and incorporated the Academy as a subsidiary of the Church. The Collegiate Department was organized on Founders Day in 1896, and the school's prestige increased so rapidly that many LDS stake academies requested permission to become branches of Brigham Young Academy. The Beaver Branch of Brigham Young Academy opened on the site of Fort Cameron in Beaver, Utah, in 1898 and remained a branch of the Academy for approximately ten years. College Hall, a versatile building that housed commencement exercises and school assemblies for several decades, was completed in 1898. Early in 1900 President Cluff left the Academy in the charge of George H. Brimhall and headed an Academy-sponsored archaeological expedition to South America. While Cluff was gone the Academy became the official LDS Church Normal Training School. Returning in 1902, Cluff worked to upgrade the Collegiate Department. In symbolic acknowledgment of his achievement, the name of the school was changed from Brigham Young Academy to Brigham Young University on October 23, 1903.

Later in 1903 Benjamin Cluff, Jr., resigned his position as president of Brigham Young University to pursue business opportunities in Central America. In April 1904 George H. Brimhall became the fourth president of the school. Consistent with LDS Church procedure, he selected Edwin S. Hinckley and Joseph B. Keeler as his counselors. Himself trained as a teacher at Brigham Young Academy, Brimhall worked to increase BYU's preeminence as a teacher training institution, at the same time upgrading the overall collegiate program of the University. In 1906 the Bachelor of Arts degree replaced the Bachelor of Pedagogy degree, and in 1916 the Board of Trustees authorized the establishment of a Master of Arts program. In 1909 BYU was designated the Church Teachers College, and President Joseph F. Smith presided at the laying of the cornerstone for the Maeser Memorial, the first University building on Temple Hill (upper campus). In 1920 the Church Teachers College became the School of Education, and football, which had been banned since 1900, was reinstated as a part of BYU's athletic program.

George H. Brimhall retired from the presidency of Brigham Young University in 1921, and Franklin S. Harris took his place. An internationally recognized agronomist, Dr. Harris worked vigorously to transform BYU into a real university. The Graduate Division was organized in 1922. On May 23, 1923, the school newspaper, Y News, reported that the University was preparing for the biggest commencement week in its history, with fifty-six bachelor's degrees to be awarded. That same year the school adopted the cougar as its official mascot and raised tuition from $23 to $38 per quarter. As the school celebrated its semicentennial in 1925, it enjoyed a collegiate enrollment of 1,133 students. A symbol of the school's growing academic stature was the Heber J. Grant Library, dedicated on Founders Day, 1925. In 1928 the University successfully completed its struggle for accreditation when it was recognized by the Association of American Universities. By then commencement was becoming so large that Heber J. Grant, Franklin S. Harris, and other dignitaries led processions of graduates from lower campus down University Avenue to the Provo Tabernacle for graduation exercises. The University even held commencement exercises in the old football stadium in 1929. While most American universities suffered from declining enrollment during the Depression, BYU enjoyed a steady increase in student enrollment and academic prominence. In 1939, the same year General Authorities of the LDS Church replaced local residents as members of the BYU Board of Trustees, the school had a collegiate enrollment of 2,375 students and awarded 361 bachelor's degrees and 28 master's degrees. In 1940 the Division of Religion was organized, giving formal structure to a program of theological classes that had been an important part of the University from the beginning. In 1941 the Joseph Smith Building was dedicated; it became the center for BYU commencement exercises during the next decade. World War II depleted student enrollment to a low of 884 in 1943, when women students outnumbered men by more than six to one.

In 1945 Franklin S. Harris resigned as president of Brigham Young University to accept the position of president of Utah State Agricultural College in Logan. Howard S. McDonald, superintendent of Salt Lake City public schools, was appointed to take his place. President McDonald faced the challenge of administering a school whose enrollment increased as rapidly after World War II as it had decreased

Six graduates comprised the Class of 1907: front row: Robert H. Sainsbury, Georgia Hoagland, Franklin S. Harris (later president of the University); back row: Hans C. Peterson, George R. Hill (later general superintendent of Sunday School), and Harvey Fletcher (later a famous scientist for whom a building on campus was named).

during the war. In 1946 there were 4,366 students on campus, many of them veterans. While the University awarded only 234 bachelor's degrees that year, it conferred 625 bachelor's degrees two years later. McDonald responded to the challenge of skyrocketing enrollment by increasing student housing, planning for the expansion of academic facilities, and creating new services for students; Wesley P. Lloyd, first dean of students, supervised a comprehensive program of counseling, housing, feeding, and providing for the health of students.

Howard S. McDonald resigned from his position at BYU in 1949 to become president of Los Angeles City College. For two years Dr. Christen Jensen, who had served since 1929 as dean of the Graduate School, was acting president of Brigham Young University.

In 1951 Ernest L. Wilkinson, a prominent graduate of BYU who was practicing law in Washington, D.C., became seventh president of the University. He immediately launched the largest program for recruiting students and increasing physical facilities in the history of the school. From a physical plant that included only the Maeser Memorial, the Grant Library, the Brimhall Building, the Eyring Science Center, and the Joseph Smith Building on upper campus, President Wilkinson supervised construction of scores of academic buildings and a large system of student housing. Anxious to make sure that academic progress kept up with the physical growth of the school, Wilkinson received authorization to establish the University's first doctoral program in 1957. Church programs kept pace with the growing student body, and the first campus stake of the LDS Church was organized at the school in 1956. By 1959 the student body had grown to 13,326, and a large crowd saw 1,746 bachelor's degrees, with 162 master's degrees, conferred at commencement exercises in the Smith Fieldhouse. In 1961 the University granted its first doctor's degrees and moved books into the new J. Reuben Clark, Jr., Library. In 1965 the school established its program of awarding two-year associate degrees for training in technical areas.

When Ernest L. Wilkinson resigned as president of Brigham Young University in 1971, the Board of Trustees announced plans to establish the J. Reuben Clark School of Law at BYU. Dallin H. Oaks, a graduate of BYU during the Wilkinson years and a professor of law at the University of Chicago, became the eighth president of BYU in August 1971. Working with a student enrollment limited to 25,000, President Oaks concentrated his efforts on increasing the academic maturity of Brigham Young University. He also supervised construction of the J. Reuben Clark Law School Building and the large addition to the Harold B. Lee Library. In 1974 the Church College of Hawaii became a branch of BYU.

Brigham Young University experienced phenomenal growth during its first century of operations. More degrees will be awarded in this one hundred first annual commencement than were awarded during the first fifty years of the school's history combined. And yet, Brigham Young University of 1976 has much in common with Brigham Young Academy of 1875. The spirit of vision and dedication that characterized Brigham Young, Abraham O. Smoot, and Karl G. Maeser lives in the administrators, faculty, and students of Brigham Young University, who are working to fulfill President John Taylor's prophecy that "Zion will be as far ahead of the world in everything pertaining to learning of every kind as we are today in regard to religious matters."

Major: Industrial Education
Minor: Secondary School Administration
Thesis: A Study to Determine the Educational Requirements and Benefits to Host a National Convention of Vocational Clubs of America
- Chung, Kyung Sup
B.E. Degree, Yonsei University, 1969
Major: Chemical Engineering Science
Thesis: Effects of H₂S Poisoning on Hydrogen and Carbon Monoxide Absorption for Alumina-Supported Nickel Alloys
- Davis, James Newton
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1973
Major: Botany
Thesis: Ecological Investigations into Cercocarpus Ledifolius Nutt. Communities in Utah
- De Mille, Ellen
B.S. Degree, College of Southern Utah, 1970
Major: Food Science and Nutrition
Minor: Chemistry
Thesis: A Comparison of Usual Food Intake and Levels of Chromium and Zinc in Body Tissues from Diabetic and Nondiabetic College Students
- Doty, Georganne Elaine
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1973
Major: Mathematics
Minor: Zoology
Thesis: A Control-Theoretic Investigation of Least Squares Integration in the Tisc System
- Driggs, Allan F.
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1975
Major: Stratigraphy and Sedimentation
Minor: Paleontology
Thesis: The Petrology of Three Upper Permian Bioherms, Southern Tunisia
- Ekpenyong, Nellie Etukudo
B.S. Degree, Southern Utah State College, 1971
Major: Sociology
- Elrod, Pamela Zoe
B.A. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1974
Major: Health Sciences
- Evans, R. Scott
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1974
Major: Zoology
Minor: Microbiology
Thesis: The Incidence and Life Cycle of Diplostomum Spathaceum in Utah
- Farahnakianpoor, Hooshang
Bachelor's Degree, University of Tehran, Teachers Training, 1961
Major: Physical Education
- Freeman, Dwight Carl, Jr.
B.S. Degree, University of Utah, 1973
Major: Botany
Thesis: Differential Resource Utilization by the Sexes of Dioceous Plants
- Gillman, David C.
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1971
Major: Sociology
Thesis: Correlates of Blood Donorship in Mass Blood Drives
- Gardner, John Scott
B.A. Degree, Oregon State University, 1968
Major: Botany
Thesis: Fixation of Dormant Tilletia Teliospores for Thin Sectioning
- Gerber, Ida Louise
B.S. Degree, Simon Fraser University, 1972
Major: Statistics
Thesis: The Derivation and Evaluation of Optimal Double Sampling Plans
- Gore, Douglas Allen, Sr.
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1975
Major: Geography
Minor: Economics
Thesis: Recreational Residences in National Forests: American Fork Canyon, Utah, a Case Study
- Green, Jeffrey S.
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1971
Major: Zoology
Thesis: Influence of a Dry Wash Habitat on Distribution and Movement of Heteromyid Rodents
- Hall, Robert F.
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1975
Major: Agribusiness
- Hansen, Leslie O.
B.S. Degree, Weber State University, 1974
Major: Zoology
Minor: Biochemistry
Thesis: Tissue Chromium Levels: Autopsy Study in Diabetic and Non-diabetic (Pima) Indians
- Hearty, Patrick A.
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1973
Major: Biochemistry
Thesis: Determination of Chromium in Several Proposed Standard

- Samples and of Zinc and Chromium in Wheat Milling and Beet Sugar Refining Samples
- Hooper, Douglas A.
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1971
Major: Sociology
Thesis: Labeling Residual Deviance as Symptomatic of Mental Illness: A Path Analytic Model
- Hsu, Pu-Tien
B.S. Degree, Chung Yuan College of Science and Engineering, 1968
Major: Statistics
Thesis: The Effect of Heterogeneity of the Covariate Variable on the Power of the Test
- Jensen, Ray Leland
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1976
Major: Mechanical Engineering Science
Thesis: An Improved Fission-Product Pressure Model for Use in the Venus-II Disassembly Code
- Kilmer, Alvin Dean
B.S. Degree, University of Wyoming, 1960
Major: Agribusiness
- Koller, Douglas B.
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1974
Major: Sociology
Thesis: Favorability towards Accreditation
- Lee, John David
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1972
Major: Microbiology
Minor: Biochemistry
Thesis: Characterization of a Facultatively Psychrophilic Marine Yeast
- Lysy, Eugene William
B.A. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1969
Major: Economics
- Maeda, Junichi J.
B.A. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1974
Major: Agribusiness
Minor: Business Management
- Markle, Drayton E.

Major: Geography
Thesis: The 1974 Utah County Master Plan: A Perception Study of Utah County Residents
- McGuire, Diana Lee Harman
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1974
Major: Food Science and Nutrition
Thesis: Body Composition Changes of Young Women on Weight Reduction Diets with and without Exercises
- Mongkolprasith, Vichitra
B.S. Degree, Chulalongkorn University, 1964
Major: Zoology
Thesis: Phytoseiid Predators of Mite Pests in Utah Apple Orchards
- Nelson, Ronald L.
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1973
Major: Animal Science
Thesis: The Effects of Culbac Nutrients Feed Additive on Fattening Steers and Heifers on Two Energy Levels
- Nyquist, Deborah Ann
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1974
Major: Physical Education
Thesis: A Determination of the Relationship between the Sharkey Step Test and the Cooper 1.5 Mile Run
- Ogilvie, Suzanne Mary, R. D.
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1971
Major: Food Science and Nutrition
Thesis: The Effect of a Weight Reduction Diet and Exercise on Urinary and Fecal Zinc and Zinc Balance; and Hair and Plasma Zinc of College-Age Women
- Orr, Richard L.
B.S. Degree, Southern Oregon College, 1973
Major: Zoology
Minor: Biochemistry
Thesis: The Comparative Toxicity of Developmental Inhibitors and Organophosphates on Mosquitoes
- Ostler, William Kent
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1974
Major: Botany
Thesis: Plant Species Diversity as a Molder of Flower Characteristics in the Wasatch Mountains of Utah and Idaho
- Palmieri, Margaret Doherty
B.S. Degree, Iowa State University, 1973
Major: Botany
Minor: Zoology
Thesis: A Revision of the Genus Ranunculus (Ranunculaceae) for the State of Utah
- Pierce, Ronald Rod
B.A. Degree, University of California. Irvine, 1972
Major: Statistics
Thesis: An Interactive Spectral Analysis Program for a Minicomputer
- Pierson, Emil Ernest
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1972
Major: Agronomy
Thesis: Effects of Chemical Preconditioning Treatments on Corn, Cucumber, and Tomato Seedlings
- Pintar, Lewis J.
B.S. Degree, University of Utah, 1970
Major: Microbiology
Thesis: Soil Enrichment and Toxicity Studies with Technical TH 6040 (1- (4-chlorophenyl)-3-(2, 6 -difluorobenzoyl)-urea) and Dimilin W-25 on Bacteria
- Rich, David Cardon
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1973
Major: Nuclear Physics
Minor: Mathematical Physics
Thesis: Measurement of Pu-239 Fission-Product Yields at Neutron Energies of 0.3 MeV and 0.5 MeV
- Romine, Jonathan N. II
B.A. Degree, Arizona State University, 1970
Major: Physical Education
Thesis: A Critical Evaluation of Springboard Diving Rules Contained in the Official NCAA Swimming Guide
- Rose, Cynthia Kay Merrell
B.S. Degree, Brigham Young University, 1972
Major: Mathematics
Thesis: Implicative and Subtractive Lattices
- Shaw, George Glade

Honorary Doctoral Degrees

John A. Howard

Doctor of Laws

Presented by Dr. Chauncey C. Riddle

A son of the Midwest, John A. Howard was born in Winnetka, Illinois, on August 10, 1921. After three years at Princeton University and a period of enlistment in World War II, he returned to Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois, where he received the bachelor's degree in education. He later returned to Northwestern to earn the master's degree in counseling and guidance, as well as a doctorate in French Literature.

Dr. Howard began his career in education in 1947 at Palos Verdes College in Rolling Hills, California, where he served consecutively as instructor, dean of students, and president. During his stay there, he married Janette M. Nobis on August 11, 1951, in Davenport, Iowa. They are the parents of four children.

After a year of government service and three years of graduate work, he assumed his present position as president of Rockford College, Rockford, Illinois. In doing so, he returned to the scene of many boyhood visits, for his mother, Edith Starr Sackett, was a native of Rockford.

Eight months after Dr. Howard became president of Rockford College in 1960, ground was broken for the first buildings on a new 304-acre campus. The college was moved to its new location in 1964, and by 1971 twenty-seven new buildings had been completed. All the building was done without federal loans or grants. An outspoken critic of direct federal subsidy of higher education, President Howard has been a leader of a national group of college executives who advocate an alternate technique for supporting higher education. In 1963, he outlined for a senate committee a gift tax credit proposal which has gained support throughout the country.

His strong commitment to private financing has brought him to the debate platform often, discussing the issue with such figures as the under secretary of health, education, and welfare, and the vice-president of the American Council on Education.

Dr. Howard has received many forms of recognition during his career. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, he received, while serving in the army in Europe during World War II, two Purple Hearts, two Silver Stars, and a battlefield commission. He received Freedom Foundation awards in 1967 and 1970, and in 1968 he was named chairman of the Freedom Foundation's Twentieth Independent Awards Jury. During 1956-57 he held a United States government post as executive vice-chairman (under Richard M. Nixon) of President Eisenhower's Committee on Government Contracts, the agency which enforced the nondiscrimination requirement in the fulfillment of government contracts.

His speeches on federal aid to education and other timely subjects have been published and commented upon widely by such publications as Vital Speeches, Nation's Business, National Review, College and University Business, Christian Science Monitor, Wall Street Journal, Freeman, Christian Economics, and Time and Parade magazines.

Sidney B. Sperry

Doctor of Religious Literature

Presented by Dean Jeffrey R. Holland

Sidney B. Sperry was born in Salt Lake City, son of Harrison and Josephine Titcomb Sperry, on December 26, 1895. He received the B.A. degree from the University of Utah in 1917 with a major in chemistry and a minor in geology. After graduation, he was employed as a chemist for the United States Bureau of Metallurgical Research. In 1918 he was commissioned a lieutenant in the artillery of the United States Army.

In 1919 he was called on a mission for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, serving in the Southern States, where for twenty months he was president of the South Carolina Conference. Upon his return, he married Eva Lila Braithwaite in the Salt Lake Temple on September 1, 1921. They are the parents of eight children. The newlyweds made their first home in Afton, Wyoming, where Brother Sperry taught high school chemistry, physics, mathematics, and music.

A year later he went to work for the Church seminary system, and in 1925 he set his feet upon the road that would lead him to scholarly achievement in the religious field when he went to study at the University of Chicago. There he earned the Master of Arts degree in Old Testament languages and literature in 1926 and in 1931 the doctorate in Oriental languages and literature with special reference to the Old Testament. During the next academic year he did postdoctoral work in archaeology at the American Schools of Oriental Research in Jerusalem.

Dr. Sperry was appointed to the Division of Religion at Brigham Young University in 1932 and became head of the division in 1946. His area of specialization was Old Testament language and literature, and over the years he achieved worldwide renown as a Bible scholar, with particular emphasis on the Old Testament. He also studied and taught New Testament and latter-day scriptures, together with courses in Greek history, Roman history, and mathematics.

From 1948 to 1954 Dr. Sperry was director of the College of Religious Instruction, and from 1954 to 1959 he was director of Graduate Studies in Religion. In May 1962 he received the Karl G. Maeser Distinguished Teaching Award. He retired from Brigham Young University in 1971 after an eminent career of teaching and scholarship in a gospel setting. The annual Sidney B. Sperry Symposium is held at the University every March, an honor paid Dr. Sperry by one of his sons and by all who participate in it.

He is named in the credits of the Hebrew and English Lexicon of the Old Testament by the Oxford Press, one of the great volumes of authority for Old Testament scholars who want to learn the correct basic meanings of words in Hebrew. In addition, he is widely known as an author of definitive works on religious subjects. Writer of numerous lessons, manuals, and articles for Church magazines, he has authored 18 books, which have greatly enriched the literature of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and the lives of its members. Among them are Ancient Records Testify, Spirit of the Old Testament, Our Book of Mormon, The Voice of Israel's Prophets, Paul's Life and Letters, the Doctrine and Covenants Compendium, and the Book of Mormon Compendium.

Neal A. Maxwell

100th degree

Doctor of Laws

Presented by President Dallin H. Oaks

Neal A. Maxwell's keen mind, sound judgment, and stimulating leadership have illuminated the task and lifted the level of performance in many fields of endeavor—universities, colleges and schools, government, literature, and public communication. Directed by his quiet but unshakable faith, these same qualities of mind, judgment, and leadership have also given distinguished service in Church administration.

Born in Salt Lake City on July 6, 1926, a son of Clarence H. and Emma Ash Maxwell, Neal A. Maxwell graduated from Granite High School and received his baccalaureate degree in political science at the University of Utah in 1952, after a tour of duty with the infantry in the Pacific theater during World War II. He later earned a master's degree in political science at that university.

After graduation Neal Maxwell was in government service for four years, including two years as legislative assistant to Senator Wallace F. Bennett. For fourteen years thereafter he served at the University of Utah as assistant professor of political science, assistant director of public relations, secretary to the Board of Regents, assistant to the president, dean of students, vice-president for planning and public affairs, and executive vice-president.

It was from this last high office that he was called in August 1970 to serve The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints as commissioner of education and later, in April 1974, as assistant to the Council of the Twelve. In these positions he has supervised the secular and religious education of about 325,000 students in universities, colleges, secondary schools, grade schools, seminaries, and institutes in 54 countries and in 17 languages. His superior example and gentle leadership style have exerted a pervasive but compelling influence for excellence in every institution in this far-flung system.

Each successive position in Neal Maxwell's remarkable career has extended his responsibilities and widened his sphere of influence. His acceptance of the stewardship of excellence is also evident from the long list of his service activities. He has been president of the Milton Bennion Memorial Foundation, chairman of the United Fund Campaign for the Greater Salt Lake Area, regional editor of the National Educational TV Networks, on the board of governors of the Salt Lake Area Chamber of Commerce and the advisory board of the Utah Museum of Natural History, vice-president of the Utah Symphony Orchestra Board, chairman of the Committee to Study Legislative Organization and Function to Strengthen Utah's Legislature, and chairman of the Constitutional Revision Commission for Utah.

Civic and educational organizations recognizing his leadership have accorded him many honors, including honorary doctoral degrees from the University of Utah and Westminster College, the Utah State Bar's "Liberty Bell Award" for public service, and the BYU Master of Public Administration Association's "Public Administrator of the Year" Award.

His remarkable talent to define problems for solution, to develop new ideas, to stimulate thought, and to articulate his convictions for the betterment of his fellowmen is reflected in his extensive communications experience through electronic and print media. For ten years he skillfully conducted a weekly television show "Tell Me" in which he probed the thoughts of public figures. He is a much sought-after lecturer and writer, widely admired for articles on politics, government, and religion, and for many books: A More Excellent Way, For the Power Is in Them, A Time to Choose, The Smallest Part, Look Back at Sodom, and That My Family Should Partake.

Awards for Distinguished Service

Frank Capra

Franklin S. Harris Fine Arts Award

In the days before film ratings became necessary, moviegoers were treated to a record-shattering string of eleven straight box-office hits (from Lady for a Day in 1932 to State of the Union in 1948) directed by the man who was showing the others how it was done: Frank Capra. Among them was the all-time favorite It Happened One Night, one of the few films to win Oscars for best picture, best director, best actor (Clark Gable), best actress (Claudette Colbert), and best screenplay (Robert Riskin). Some of his other hits were the Oscar-winning Mr. Deeds Goes to Town and You Can't Take It with You, and Lost Horizon, Mr. Smith Goes to Washington, Meet John Doe, and Arsenic and Old Lace.

Frank Capra was born in a village near Palermo, Sicily, May 19, 1897, youngest of seven children of farmer Salvatore Capra. When Frank was six, the family moved to America, and eventually to Los Angeles. Young Frank went to school, working his own way through. By 1918 he had earned a degree in chemical engineering from the California Institute of Technology.

In San Francisco he tried his hand at directing a one-reel film based on Kipling's Ballad of Fultah Fisher's Boardinghouse. The film failed, but its director knew what he wanted to do. He headed for Hollywood, determined to learn more about the film business and to try again. That was more than fifty years ago.

He did learn the business and brought to it a genius that put him at the top in a fiercely competitive business. His motion pictures were both entertaining and edifying. During World War II he joined the army, where he directed a series of seven award-winning documentaries, Why We Fight. Often donating his time and energies to the State Department, he has also served the United Nations as an adviser on the use of films. His colleagues in the Director's Guild of America have honored him with the D. W. Griffith Award for outstanding contribution to the art of film directing.

Between pictures, Mr. Capra made a series of four hour-long television shows on science for the Bell Telephone Company (Our Mister Sun, Hemo the Magnificent, The Strange Case of the Cosmic Rays, and The Unchained Goddess, Meteora.)

During the last five years, he has held film seminars in more than fifty American and Canadian universities, sharing his film experience and expertise with thousands of students and faculty members. In addition, he has talked informally at colleges, high schools, museums, and film societies, eager to impart what he knows about the art he helped make great.

Lewis M. Jones

Jesse Knight Industrial Citizenship Award

From the days of such summer jobs as cabin boy, dishwasher, bellhop, and clerk in and around Cedar City, Utah, Lewis M. Jones, Salt Lake City industrialist, has come a long way. He was born December 21, 1915, son of Randall L. and Lavinia S. Jones. He attended elementary and high school in Cedar City and went to college at Brigham Young University, University of Utah, and Southwestern University. On April 18, 1938, he was married in the Salt Lake Temple to Neone Fitches. They have four children.

In 1936 Mr. Jones began his business career in Sun Valley, Idaho, working for the Union Pacific as a clerk. With four years' experience behind him, he tackled public accounting in Los Angeles in 1941 and by 1943 was vice-president and controller of the Associated Piping and Engineering Company. Within five years he was owner of another company, Western Piping and Engineering, and in 1962 purchased Associated Piping too. The latter company was expanded in 1966 to a location in Clearfield, Utah, and a year later both piping companies were merged into Johnson Controls, an international concern, with Mr. Jones remaining as president.

Although in 1970 he put together the National Warehouse and Distribution Company in Clearfield, Utah, he retained his interest in Associated Piping and Western Piping, where he has served as chairman of the board since 1972. The warehouse company now occupies a 600,000-square-foot building of its own and a million square feet in the Freeport Center and is the largest of its kind in the country. The two piping companies have participated in some challenging and interesting projects in recent years, including the development of cryogenic piping systems for the launching of missiles; the production of expansion joints used throughout the missile program; the construction of environmental chambers for space simulators; and the involvement of piping for nuclear plants, chemical plants, food-processing plants, and oil refineries. The Associated Utah Plant is doing all the pumping stations for the pipeline being built in Alaska.

"Business is a challenge and a very pleasant experience," says Mr. Jones, and he stresses the necessity for integrity in all business dealings. He has never permitted his business interests to occupy all his time but has rendered significant service in family, church, and community. He is associated with the Boy Scouts of America and is on the board of governors of the Primary Childrens Medical Center. To assist those who come after him in the business world he shares his expertise on the National Advisory Council of the College of Business of Brigham Young University and that of the University of Utah.

Always active in The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, he has been bishop of the Bellflower Ward and president of the Norwalk Stake in California and was a member of the general Sunday School board for many years.

T. Edgar Lyon

David O. McKay Humanities Award

For thirty-eight years of his life, T. Edgar Lyon was an associate director of the institute of religion at the University of Utah, where he taught countless students, buoying up their spirits, keeping them close to the Church when they found themselves caught in the academic/religious riptides that often threaten university students. Somewhere in the late-evening and early-morning hours, he found time to write 186 articles and reviews published in 18 religious and professional journals, six books, and numerous Church manuals and study guides.

Born in Salt Lake City on August 9, 1903, to David Ross and Mary Cairns Lyon, he attended school there until he was called on a mission to the Netherlands in 1923. After his return, on August 16, 1927, he married Hermana Forsberg in the Salt Lake Temple, and they are the parents of six boys, including two sets of twins.

He received the bachelor's degree in 1927 from the University of Utah and the master's degree from the University of Chicago in 1932. He taught high school, seminary, and college in Idaho before being called to preside over the Netherlands Mission, 1933-37. Upon his return from Europe, he took up his position at the University of Utah Institute and became involved in other activities as well.

He served as a guide on Temple Square for 15 years and as instructor at the Salt Lake Missionary Home for 21 years. In 1961 he received the doctoral degree from the University of Utah. Since 1964 he has been the research historian for the Nauvoo Restoration, Inc., and last year, after 26 years of instructing a high priests quorum, he was made patriarch of the Canyon Rim Stake.

Dr. Lyon has been affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America in various capacities since 1915, but one of his sons recently remarked that scouting for the Lyon boys was never so exciting as the fun they had with their father and the things he taught them. Always part of life in the Lyon household were the Dutch immigrants Dr. Lyon brought home to stay until they found a place to live permanently. For 26 years he was actively involved as a guide for Dutch- and English-speaking visitors in the LDS Church Information Service and its state-sponsored successor, the Utah Council for International Visitors.

Scholarship and integrity have enabled him to present a view of western and Mormon history unclouded by myth or prejudice. He has insisted on a standard of excellence, always going to original sources before making assertions. Generous with his time, he has devoted nearly every Sunday of his adult life to speaking for firesides, sacrament meetings, priesthood quorums, and other interested groups. In this way, he has contributed to the information and the testimonies of thousands of members of the Church.

The Alumni Association

The Class of 1976 is now a part of history, and on this day you commence a new phase of living. Your student activity card, once a passport to almost every phase of campus living, will no longer be valid. In its place is a diploma. As you now begin to test the worth of that diploma in the marketplaces of the world, you will learn for a fact that what you have become while earning it is much more important than the mere possession of it.

One of the "whats" you have become during this process is an alumnus of Brigham Young University. Your membership in the BYU Alumni Association is automatic and provides lifetime opportunities to continue your education and association with the University. There are no dues. The Alumni Association is a nonprofit organization with more than 150,000 members.

Here are some ways it might serve you:

Keep you in touch with campus thought and happenings. You will receive from the association nine times a year the award-winning newspaper BYU Today. (Keep the Alumni House notified as your address changes.)

Take you on travel tours—exciting, LDS-sponsored adventures to all parts of the globe with excellent companions, directors, accommodations at the lowest possible prices.

Take you to Aspen Grove Family Camp—a relaxing mountain resort with plenty of swimming, hiking, fishing, and other organized programs for each member of the family. It offers both seclusion and fast-paced activity in the Wasatch Mountains just twenty minutes from Provo.

Help you organize college, department, class, and club reunions—held at Homecoming time each year.

Provide programs for your parents and you when your children become students—receptions, seminars, and tours for visiting parents during special weekends and holidays.

And, if you are looking for ways to help your alma mater, the Alumni Association provides these programs:

You can be an admissions adviser—men and women like you help recruit top-quality high school students to BYU.

You can serve as a fund worker—many alumni voluntarily serve the University's Development program by manning telephones in regional telefunds and by serving in other capacities as part of Annual Giving.

You can help organize and attend alumni activities—host receptions, dinners, firesides, and other meetings for alumni, parents, and friends of BYU.

The Alumni Association collects no funds for itself. It operates on a budget from BYU and simply passes on all alumni gifts to the University to support areas where the Board of Trustees feels the need is greatest or areas that you designate. So when the young man or woman who is sitting next to you at commencement exercises today contacts you in the future to ask for your time or for a contribution, rest assured that your help will go directly where it is needed. Service to BYU has become a tradition for thousands of alumni. We hope you will actively join with them.

Significance of Academic Costume

The significance of academic costume is determined especially by the sleeves and hoods.

DOCTORS wear the round bell sleeve; the gown is faced down the front and barred on the sleeves with black velvet or color indicating the degree; the doctor's hood is large. The doctor may, if he so chooses, wear the gold tassel on his cap.

MASTERS wear the long, closed sleeve, with a slit near the upper part of the arm; the master's hood is of more moderate size.

BACHELORS wear the long or pointed sleeve. The color of the tassel indicates whether the degree is in the field of arts (white) or science (golden yellow).

HOODS are lined with the colors of the institutions granting the degree, or with which the wearer is connected, and are trimmed with velvet of the color distinctive of the degree—for example, humanities and social science, white; philosophy, blue; science, golden yellow; music, pink; engineering, orange; education, light blue; commerce and accounting, drab.

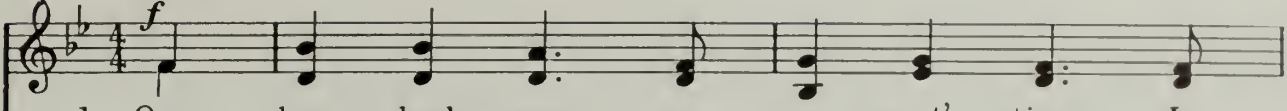

Dedicated to love of God, pursuit of truth, service to mankind

GLORY TO GOD ON HIGH

Glory to God on high!
Let heav'n and earth reply,
Praise ye his name.
His love and grace adore,
Who all our sorrows bore;
Sing aloud evermore,
Worthy the Lamb!

Jesus, our Lord and God,
Bore sin's tremendous load;
Praise ye his name!
Tell what his arm has done,
What spoils from death he won;
Sing his great name alone,
Worthy the Lamb!

Let all the hosts above
Join in one song of love,
Praising his name;
To him ascribed be
Honor and majesty
Through all eternity;
Worthy the Lamb!

DANIEL J. BOORSTIN

Doctor of Humanities

Presented by Dr. Ted J. Warner

Daniel J. Boorstin, historian and scholar, was born in Atlanta, Georgia, and raised in Tulsa, Oklahoma. He graduated from Harvard College, summa cum laude, in 1934 and went as a Rhodes scholar to Oxford, where he received a “double first” (highest honors) in two law degrees. He is a barrister-at-law in England and is one of the few Americans qualified to wear a barrister’s wig and to plead in Her Majesty’s High Courts. He received his Juris Doctor degree from Yale University in 1940.

Professor Boorstin has taught at Harvard College, Harvard Law School, Swarthmore College, and at the University of Chicago where he was a member of the History Department for twenty-five years. He has served as Senior Historian at the Smithsonian Institution where he was also Director of the National Museum of History and Technology. He is presently serving as the Librarian of Congress in Washington, D.C.

Professor Boorstin has spent much of the last thirty years studying the meaning of American civilization. His most distinguished work, The Americans, a trilogy, is the product of twenty years of research and writing and is a sweeping view of American history and a profound contribution to American intellectual history. The first volume, The Americans: The Colonial Experience, was awarded the prestigious Bancroft Prize by Columbia University in 1959. The second volume, The Americans: The National Experience, has been called “a model of intellectual acuteness and of great and relevant learning.” It was awarded the Francis Parkman Prize by the Society of American Historians. The final volume, The Americans: The Democratic Experience, received the Pulitzer Prize in History in 1974 and was selected as the book of the month by both the History Book Club and the Book of the Month Club.

From a background in other disciplines, Professor Boorstin has found ways of thinking about our history that have given him perspectives that have escaped more conventional historians. Perhaps more than any other scholar, he has made us mindful of the continuity of American history—how early habits of thought and activity have stayed with us through the years and decisively shaped our present. He has made of history a high art, for his studies have been more than a scholastic probing of minute points important only to a few professional historians. He has used his history to write social commentary, to help us perceive why we came to be, where we are, and what we might do about it. Professor Boorstin is concerned with what Americans have in common and how that consensus has shaped their way of life. He has made us conscious of how, through technology, we have been able to re-create our environment but are thereby threatened with the possibility of losing touch with that natural relationship between man and environment that has made us great.

No American historian of this generation has more vividly portrayed the American past. In recognition of his scholarly efforts which enable us to understand more clearly our past and appreciate our great heritage, Brigham Young University takes pleasure in awarding Dr. Daniel J. Boorstin the degree of Doctor of Humanities, honoris causa.

HOWARD W. HUNTER

Doctor of Laws

Presented by President Dallin H. Oaks

Howard W. Hunter—lawyer, business executive, and leader in community, family, and church—was born in Boise, Idaho, where his childhood experiences of hard work and achievement set the pattern for his life. He delivered telegrams, sold newspapers, worked in a newspaper office, organized a five-piece band, excelled in school, and became the second Eagle Scout from Idaho.

After graduation from high school, Howard Hunter moved to California and obtained work as a bank teller. Pursuing his education during the depression years, he completed his undergraduate work at Southwestern University in Los Angeles and then attended night classes at Southwestern University Law School where he graduated in 1939 with a degree of Juris Doctor, cum laude. He was soon admitted to the California State Bar and began the practice of law in the Los Angeles area. His hard work, integrity, and practiced insight into business and legal problems soon won him recognition as a leading corporate lawyer in that area. Top businessmen sought his advice, and he has been invited to the boards of directors of leading western corporations, including First Security Corporation, Watson Land Company, Deseret Federal Savings and Loan, and Beneficial Life Insurance Company.

Through all the trials of employment, graduate education, the establishment and management of a successful law practice, and ever-increasing responsibilities in his Church, Howard W. Hunter has been supported and assisted by his bride of forty-five years, Clara May Jeffs.

Howard W. Hunter's record of service in the Church is exceptional for its breadth and significance. He has served as a bishop, as a high councilor, as president of the Pasadena California Stake, as chairman of the Regional Council of Stake Presidents in Southern California, and as chairman of the fund-raising committee for the Los Angeles Temple. On October 10, 1959, seventeen years ago this fall, he was called to be an apostle in The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Among his many special assignments as a member of the Council of the Twelve, he has served for several years as Church Historian, for fifteen years as director or president of the Genealogical Society, and for seven years as chairman of the Church Investment Advisory Committee. He is currently chairman of the Temple and Genealogical Executive Committee. For many years he was chairman of the New World Archaeological Foundation. For the past eleven years he has been president of the Polynesian Cultural Center in Laie, Hawaii, guiding the development of that unique cultural enterprise through its formative stages into an enterprise now viewed by over a million persons annually. His services to education are exemplified by his sixteen years on the Board of Trustees of Brigham Young University, Ricks College, Church College of Hawaii (now Brigham Young University—Hawaii Campus), and the Board of Education of the Church. For the last three years of this service, he was chairman of the executive committee of these boards.

For the excellence of his example and for his distinguished service to the profession of law, to his community, to his Church and to higher education, Brigham Young University is pleased to confer upon Howard William Hunter the degree Doctor of Laws honoris causa.

Joseph F. Smith Family Living Award

WILLIAM F. and CATHERINE EYRING EDWARDS

William F. and Catherine Eyring Edwards have maintained a tradition of true partnership since they served as senior class president and vice-president respectively at Brigham Young University in 1928. Following their marriage in the Salt Lake Temple in September 1929, they left immediately for New York City where he continued his education at the New York University Graduate School of Business.

Like many young men at the time, he had earned his way through BYU and was employed full-time supporting his growing family while attending classes at the graduate school. By 1950 he had achieved considerable prominence and recognition in New York City's financial district as an investment expert and money manager.

In December 1950, the family returned to the West where Dr. Edwards was appointed dean of the College of Business at Brigham Young University. In 1953 he became vice-president of BYU. He held both of these positions and concurrently undertook a number of special financial projects for the First Presidency of the Church. He was subsequently called to be Secretary of Finance to the First Presidency. Upon completing ten years of BYU/Church-associated service in 1960, he became executive vice-president of the First Security Investment Company and later vice-president of investments of the First Security Bank and professor of Banking and finance at the University of Utah on a part-time basis. With the beginning of the school year in 1971, he was appointed Driggs Brothers Professor of Banking and Finance at BYU and became professor emeritus in 1975.

William and Catherine Edwards have always been active in Church work. He served as president of the New York Stake and now performs sealings at the Provo Temple. Mrs. Edwards has been Primary, MIA, and Relief Society president, a member of the Primary General Board and the Church Correlation Committee, and is now an ordinance worker in the Provo Temple.

While it is apparent that Dr. and Mrs. Edwards have devoted considerable time to his profession, they consider that their primary vocation has been the raising of a family which now includes six children and thirty-six grandchildren. Four of their children have graduated from Brigham Young University; two others graduated from the University of Utah.

The success of their family endeavors can be measured by the accomplishments of the children. One son is a corporation vice-president and serves as a stake high councilor. Another son is a lawyer who lives in Salt Lake City and is a bishop in the Church. The third son is an accountant and assistant treasurer for a major Utah fuel supply company.

The daughters of William and Catherine Edwards are all wives and mothers. One did graduate work at Stanford University and is an art instructor. Another daughter is the wife of a business executive, and the third is the wife of a Salt Lake City attorney.

Because of their splendid example and contributions toward wholesome family living, Brigham Young University is honored to present to Dr. William F. Edwards and Catherine Eyring Edwards the Joseph F. Smith Family Living Award.

DR. GEORGE H. HANSEN

It is appropriate that George H. Hansen's influence upon the study of geology at Brigham Young University should rival his beloved rocks and earth in permanence. From his boyhood as son of a stonecutter and farmer, his life and teachings were rooted in the land and mountains of the West.

He was born June 28, 1896, at Richfield, Utah, the second of six children born to Lars Peter and Sorene Sorenson Hansen. The people and the place deeply affected him. Even though he has since traveled halfway around the world, he has never forgotten where it all started.

He graduated from Utah State Agricultural College in 1918, having majored in geology, and later received his master's degree from George Washington University in 1925. Two years later he was awarded his doctoral degree from the same institution and accepted a job with a Texas oil company.

In the hot summer of 1927, he and his wife, Afton, and three of their children settled in Fort Stockton, Texas, with the prospects of a well-paying career ahead of them.

A letter from President Franklin S. Harris arrived, however, offering Dr. Hansen a teaching position at BYU. After much prayer and consideration, the family moved to Provo where, about a year later, Dr. Hansen became chairman of the geology department.

His new career led him to teaching not only in the classroom but also in church. The subject of geology has always mixed easily with the plan of salvation in the manner that George Hansen addressed it.

While studying and teaching, Dr. and Mrs. Hansen also raised a family. He passed his professional heritage to both of his sons who are now Ph.D.'s in geology. The Hansen's two daughters are also college graduates.

He wrote extensively on the subjects of oil and gas potential in Utah, geology, vertebrates, climate cycles, and geography. Between 1925 and 1963, he published nineteen scientific papers on ground water geology and completed a redistricting study of the counties of Utah. The geology of the entire Rocky Mountain region became his domain. He was much sought after as a consultant on petroleum and ground water.

And he shared this priceless knowledge unselfishly with his students—treating each as an individual with individual goals and abilities.

In 1959 he and his wife went to Indonesia where they spent four years, first setting up a geology department at the new university at Jogjakarta and later visiting Timor, the geologist's "Mecca" of the Pacific. Later consulting assignments took him to Alaska, Canada, Mexico, and East Africa.

In 1965 George H. Hansen received the Karl G. Maeser Distinguished Teaching Award for outstanding service and exemplary living. He retired from active instructing at BYU in 1972.

For his outstanding contributions in the field of geology, Brigham Young University is honored to present Dr. George H. Hansen the James E. Talmage Scientific Achievement Award.

Abraham O. Smoot Public Service Award

L. RALPH MECHAM

Public service, business, education, and the Church have all enjoyed the benefits of L. Ralph Mecham's many gifts and talents. In each endeavor, he has achieved excellence that few people realize in one field alone.

He was born in Murray, Utah, on April 23, 1928. He is married to the former Barbara Folsom of Salt Lake City. They have five children.

Choosing education as one of his primary means of achieving excellence, Dr. Mecham received his bachelor's degree in political science from the University of Utah in 1952, graduating summa cum laude, and concurrently received a graduate certificate in public administration. That same year he joined U.S. Senator Wallace F. Bennett's staff as administrative assistant. He remained with the senator until 1965, progressing to legislative assistant and counsel.

During this time, Dr. Mecham studied law at George Washington University and was awarded a Juris Doctor degree in 1957. Subsequently, in 1964, he received a master's degree in public administration from Harvard University and from 1963 to 1964 he also completed all work for a Doctor of Public Administration degree except for oral examinations and dissertation. While on Senator Bennett's staff, he specialized in natural resources and energy matters, environmental and conservation policies, and public works projects. He worked closely with the Senate Finance and Banking and Currency committees on which Senator Bennett served, dealing with tax and stockpiling legislation.

His appointment to become vice-president of the University of Utah came in 1965. He served in this position until 1969 when he received a federal appointment to become special assistant to the U.S. Secretary of Commerce for regional economic coordination.

Shortly after, he was unanimously confirmed by the U.S. Senate as federal cochairman of the Four Corners Regional Development Commission. In this position he served with the governors of Utah, Arizona, Colorado, and New Mexico in developing and improving a land area which comprised one-tenth of the continental United States.

In 1970 Dr. Mecham became vice-president of the Anaconda Company—a position which he holds today. He is charged with directing the company's governmental affairs and coordinating relevant state activities. Additionally, he represents Anaconda on the natural resources and public and environmental affairs committees of several leading businesses.

Despite his heavy commitments to public service and business, he continues to devote considerable time and energy to the Church, to education, and to charities. He has been bishop of two wards, high councilor in two stakes, and has served as counselor in the Washington, D.C., mission presidency. Dr. Mecham is also a member of the University of Utah National Advisory Council and is a member of the BYU College of Management National Advisory Council.

In recognition of his outstanding service to his country and his community, Brigham Young University is honored to present to L. Ralph Mecham the Abraham O. Smoot Public Service Award.

SIGNIFICANCE OF ACADEMIC COSTUME

The significance of academic costume is determined especially by the sleeves and hoods.

DOCTORS wear the round bell sleeve; the gown is faced down the front and barred on the sleeves with black velvet or color indicating the degree; the doctor's hood is large. The doctor may, if he so chooses, wear the gold tassel on his cap.

MASTERS wear the long, closed sleeve, with a slit near the upper part of the arm; the master's hood is of more moderate size.

BACHELORS wear the long or pointed sleeve. The color of the tassel indicates whether the degree is in the field of arts (white) or science (golden yellow).

HOODS are lined with the colors of the institutions granting the degree, or with which the wearer is connected, and are trimmed with velvet of the color distinctive of the degree—for example, humanities and social science, white; philosophy, blue; science, golden yellow; music, pink; engineering, orange; education, light blue; commerce and accounting, drab.

COLLEGE SONG

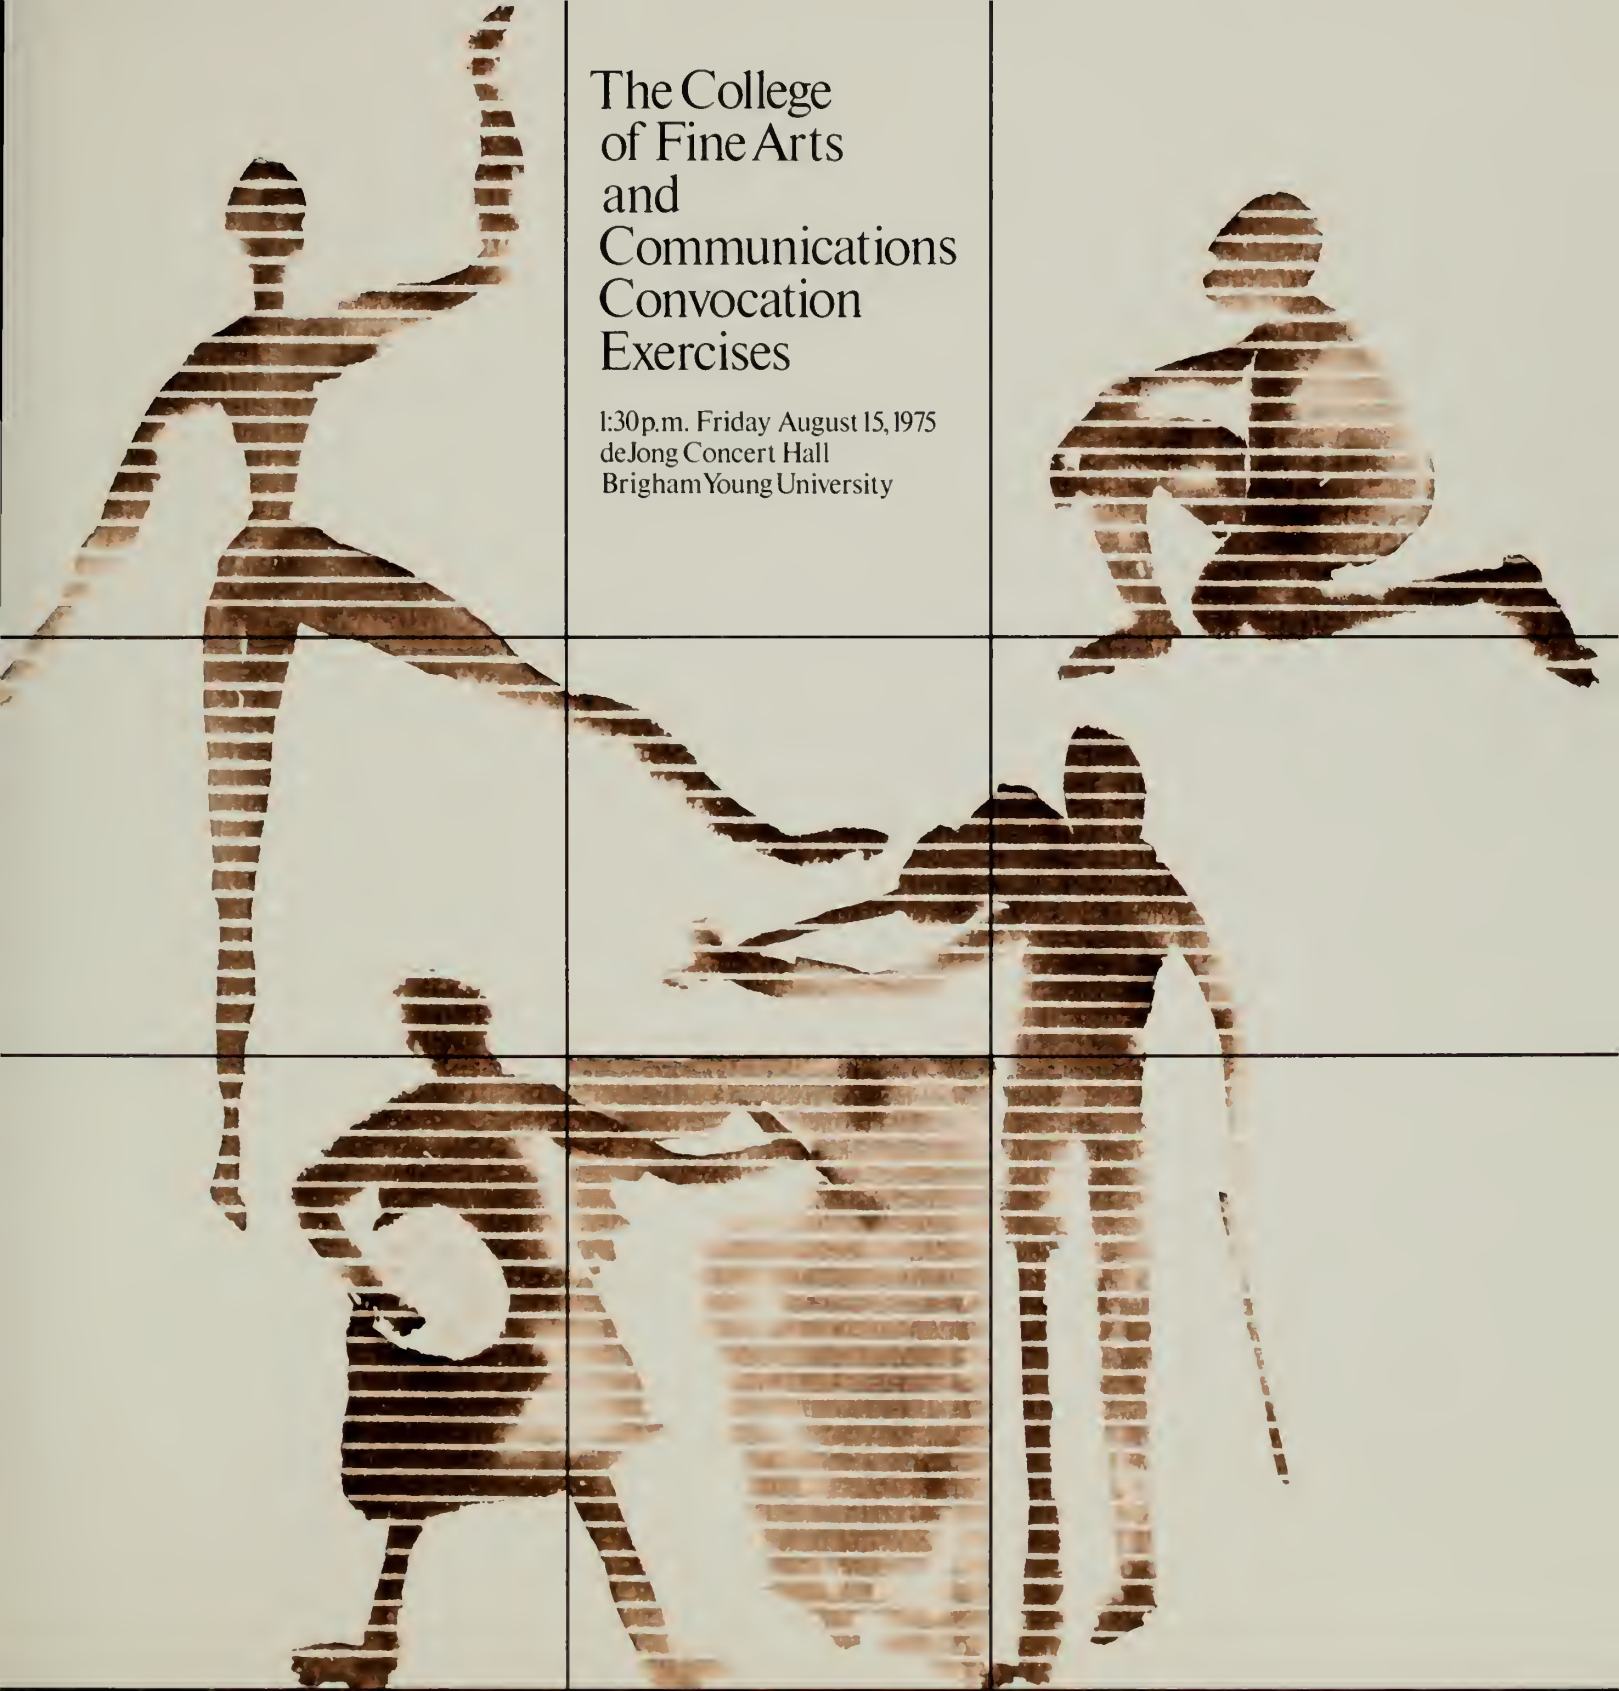

*All hail the College that we love
At the throne, the throne of wisdom's sway,
O let us lift our songs above
The thronging multitude today.
No pride nor riches here may sue
The head, the heart, the hand united must be true,
Be true to thee our white and blue,
When they join our happy band.*

Chorus

*Then cheer anew for the BYU.
We've come to work, to live, to do.
We'll raise our standard, bear it through,
Our hearts are true to the BYU.*

Please save this program for the college convocations.

The background of the entire page is a large, abstract artwork. It consists of several stylized human figures in various poses, rendered in a brown, textured, and horizontally striped pattern. These figures are overlaid on a grid of thin black lines that divide the page into a 3x3 arrangement of squares. The figures appear to be in motion, with some arms raised and legs extended, creating a sense of dynamic energy across the composition.

PRELUDE MUSIC Claudia Flanders Department of Music OPENING HYMN "Sweet Is the Work, My God, My King" Sung by Congregation Conducted by Murray Boren INVOCATION Ann Twelves Department of Theatre and Cinematic Arts GREETINGS Lael J. Woodbury, Dean	PROGRAM	RECESSIONAL Claudia Flanders Department of Music The audience will please remain seated until the graduates have marched from the stage. SWEET IS THE WORK, MY GOD, MY KING Sweet is the work, my God, my King, To praise thy name, give thanks and sing, To show thy love by morning light And talk of all thy truths at night. Sweet is the day of sacred rest. No mortal care shall seize my breast. O may my heart in tune be found Like David's harp of solemn sound! My heart shall triumph in my Lord And bless his works and bless his word. Thy works of grace, how bright they shine! How deep thy counsels, how divine! But, oh, what triumph shall I raise To thy dear name through endless days, When in the realms of joy I see Thy face in full felicity.
